I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

THE OLD BOOKKEEPER

When I tell you, my only friend, to whom I so rarely write and whom I more rarely see, that my lonely life has not been without love for woman, you will perhaps laugh or doubt.

"What?" you will say. "That gaunt old specter in his attic, with his books, his tobacco and his three flowerpots? He would not know that there is such a word as love did he not encounter it now and then in his reading?"

True, I have divided my days between the books in a rich man's counting room and those in my attic. True, again, I have never been more than merely passable to look at even in my best days.

Yet I have loved a woman. During the five years when my elder brother lay in the hospital across the river, where he died, it was my custom to visit him every Sunday. I enjoyed the afternoon walk to the suburbs, where the air has more of nature in it, especially that portion of the walk which lay upon the bridge. More life than was usual upon the bridge moved there on Sunday. Then the cars were crowded with people seeking the parks. Many crossed on foot, stopping to look idly down at the dark and sluggish water.

One afternoon as I stood thus leaning over the parapet the sound of a woman's gentle laugh caused me to turn and ocularly inquire its source. The woman and a man were approaching. At the side of the woman walked soberly a handsome dog, a collie. There was that in their appearance and manner which plainly told me that here were husband and wife of the middle class, intelligent, but poor, out for a stroll. That they were quite devoted to each other was easily discoverable.

The man looked about thirty years of age, was tall, slender and with neither strong nor handsome, but amiable, face. He was doubtless a clerk fit to be something better.

The woman was perhaps twenty-four. She was not quite beautiful, yet she was more than pretty. She was of good size and figure, and the short plush coat that she wore and the manner in which she kept her hands thrust in the pockets thereof gave to her a dauntless air which the quiet and affectionate expression of her face softened.

She was a brunette, her eyes being large and distinctly dark brown, her face having that peculiar complexion which is most quickly affected by any change in health.

The color of her cheeks, the dark rim under her eyes and other indefinable signs indicated some radical ailment. In the quick glance that I had of that pair while the woman was smiling a feeling of pity came over me. I have never detected the exact cause of that emotion. Perhaps in the woman's face I read the trace of past bodily and mental suffering, perhaps a subtle mark that death had already set there.

Neither the woman nor her husband noticed me as they passed. The dog regarded me cautiously with the corner of his eye. I probably would never have thought of the three again had I not seen them upon the bridge under exactly the same circumstances on the next Sunday.

So these young and then happy people walked here every Sunday, I thought. This perhaps was an event looked forward to throughout the week. The husband doubtless was kept a prisoner and slave at his desk from Monday morning until Saturday night, with respite only for eating and sleeping. Such cases are common even with people who can think and who have some taste for luxury and who are not devoid of love for the beautiful.

The sight of happiness which exists despite the cruelty of fate and man and which is temporarily unconscious of its own liability to interruption and extinction invariably fills me with sadness. And the sadness which arose at the contemplation of these two beings begot in me a strange sympathy for and interest in them.

On Sundays thereafter I would go early to the bridge and wait until they passed, for it proved that this was their habitual Sunday walk. Sometimes they would pause and join those who gazed down at the black river. I would now and again resume my journey toward the hospital while they thus stood, and I would look back from a distance. The bridge would then appear to me an abrupt ascent, rising to the dense city, and their two figures would stand out clearly against the background.

It became a matter of care to me to observe each Sunday whether the health of either had varied during the previous week. The husband, always pale and slight, showed little change, and that infrequently. But the fluctuations of the woman as indicated by complexion, gait, expression and otherwise were numerous and pronounced. Often she looked brighter and more robust than on the preceding Sunday. Her face would be then rounded out, and the dark crescents beneath her eyes would be less marked. Then I found myself elated.

But on the next Sunday the cheeks had receded slightly, the healthy luster of the eyes had given way to an ominous glow; the warning of death had returned. Then my heart would sink, and sighing, I would murmur inaudibly:

"This is one of the bad Sundays."

There came a time when every Sunday was a bad one.

What made me love this woman? Simply the unmistakable completeness and constancy of her devotion to her husband, the absorption of the woman in the wife. Had the strange ways of chance ever made known to her my feeling and had she swerved from that devotion even to render me back love for love, then my own adoration for her would surely have departed.

Yes, I loved her if to fill one's life with thoughts of a woman, if in fancy to see her face by day and night, if to have the will to die for her or to bear pain for her—if these and many more things mean love.

My richest joy was to see her content with her husband, and the darkest woe of my life was to anticipate the termination of their happiness.

So the Sundays passed. One afternoon I waited until almost dusk, yet the couple did not appear.

For seven Sundays in succession I did not meet them upon their wonted walk.

On the eighth Sunday I saw the dog first, then the man. The latter was looking over the railing. The woman was not with him. Apprehensively I sought with my eyes his face. Much grief and loneliness were depicted there.

Was he or I the greater mourner, I wonder?

I suppose two years passed after that day ere I again beheld the widower, whose name I do not and probably never shall know, upon the bridge. The dog was not with him this time. It was a fine, sunny afternoon in May. Grief was no longer in his face. By his side was a very pretty, animated, rosy little woman whom I had never seen before. They walked close to each other, and she looked with the utmost tenderness into his face. She evidently was not yet entirely accustomed to the wedding ring which I observed upon her finger.

I think that tears came to my eyes at this sight. Those great brown eyes, the plush sack, the lovely face that had borne the impress of sorrow and so speedily had felt death—these might never have existed so soon had they been forgotten by the one being in the world for whom that face had worn the aspect of a perfect love.

Yet one upon whom those eyes never rested has remembered, and surely the memory of her is mine to wed, since he whose right it was to cherish it had allowed himself to be divorced from it in so brief a time.

The memory of her is with me always, fills my soul, beautifies my life, makes green and radiant this existence which all who know me think cold, bleak, empty, repellent. You will not laugh, then, my friend, when I tell you that love is not to me a thing unknown.

So runs a part of the last letter to my father that the old bookkeeper ever wrote.

Largest and Smallest Book.
 The British museum owns the largest book in the world and the smallest. The largest is an atlas of the fifteenth century. It is seven feet high. Between its generous leaves a tall man's head is hidden. Its stout binding and ponderous clasps make it seem as substantial as the walls of a room. The smallest is a tiny "Bijou Almanac"—less than an inch square, bound in dainty red morocco and easily to be concealed in the finger of a lady's glove. These two extremes of the printer's art might well stand at the beginning and the end of the amazing thirty-seven miles of shelves filled with books which make up a part of the printed treasures of the great English library.

Wronged Him.
 Miss Goldy—I can never marry a man who works for a living. D'Auber—But I am an artist, dearest.

Miss Goldy—Yes; but you sell your pictures.
 D'Auber (with a vision of the hard time he has been having ever since he entered the profession)—You wrong me, Miss Goldy; you wrong me. I never sold a picture in my life.

The Wife's Mistake.

"The other day," said Jones, "an old woman bounced into our office displaying a notice that we had written to her to the effect that a tax on some property of hers was due. She swore she had paid it. I had the books to prove that the tax was still unpaid, and suggested that she had made a mistake. She declared that she had not, and said: 'Don't you ever make mistakes?'"

"I assured her that I did not, and jokingly added, 'The only mistake I ever made was when I was married.'"

"She looked at me a second and then said, 'No; your wife made that mistake.'"

A Story of Dumas.

In connection with the question of the extent of Dumas' indebtedness to his collaborators the following anecdote is told: Dumas, it is said, was once reproached in conversation for some inaccuracy in one of his works. His answer was: "I never read the book. Let me see." He wrote it for me? Ah, I remember the little Auguste Ma must go and box his ears."

Growing Old

Ought not to mean growing weak and feeble. It does not mean weakness or feebleness for those who eat with good appetite and sound digestion. It is of the utmost importance that old people should retain the power to digest and assimilate food which is the sole source of physical strength. When age brings feebleness it is generally because of the failure to assimilate the nutrition contained in food.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It invigorates the liver and promotes general physical well being.

It is with gratitude we acknowledge what Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for grandmothers' good, in fact it has cured her, writes Miss Carrie Ranker of Perryburg, Ohio. "She had doctor with several physicians but found no relief until Dr. Pierce advised her what to do. She has taken only three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and is entirely well. She suffered with pain in kidneys, bladder and liver for ten years, and her limbs were swollen with dropsy so she could hardly walk. My grandmother's name is Mrs. Caroline Hennessey, her age is 71 years. I will gladly answer all letters of inquiry."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and absolutely confidential.
 Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

SUPPORT OUR TOWNSMAN

A strong effort is being made by the strict party Republicans to prevent the friends and neighbors of our fellow-townsmen, Fred, Duhring, from rallying to his support regardless of party lines, on the sole ground that a U. S. Senator is at stake. For ourselves we do not fear the outcome, as the Republicans are bound to elect the next U. S. Senator whether or not Mr. Duhring is elected, because the Republicans have 19 out of the 20 holdover Senators to start in with, therefore they will have to elect but 42 members of the next legislature as against the Democrats' 60. It is almost an impossibility for the Democrats to accomplish this task in this Republican State in this Republican year. We expect our State Senator to do many other things besides vote for a U. S. Senator, as there is much needed legislation to be attended to, and without reflecting on his opponent, Mr. Duhring is thoroughly qualified to represent our county as it should be represented.

Local pride should also prompt us to see a fellow townsman elected to a position of high honor and trust. A vote for Duhring will be all right matters not what your politics or religion may be.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CANDIDATES

Hold Forth in this Place—Duhring for Senator Gains Many Votes.

The meeting of the Democratic county candidates in this place last Wednesday night was both enthusiastic and well attended.

Hon. Robert Howe presided and introduced each of the county nominees, all of whom were well received.

Fred. T. Duhring, nominee for State Senator, was accorded a perfect ovation when he arose to speak, and before he left the platform he had gained at least thirty or forty Republican votes in this town alone that might otherwise have gone to his opponent, Mr. Woodward, who by the way is a very clever and conservative gentleman. In his efforts to vilify and defeat Mr. Duhring, one George Breitenbach of this place has been writing scurrilous letters to prominent Republicans all over the county. Many of these epistles are now in the hands of Mr. Duhring, and one of them he read from the platform as follows: Sonoma, Cal., Oct. 23, 1902. On the evening of the 22nd the Democratic county nominees will hold forth in your city. I wish to speak of the candidates for the Legislature, especially Breitenbach. Duhring of Sonoma, candidate for State Senator. He should be prevented. Why? In the first place I do not think he is the kind of a man to be sent to the Senate. His record of local defeat shows what the people who know him best think of him.

"In April, 1897, defeated for city trustee by Lorenzo Codini of Italy. The men ran on their merits and the confidence people had in them.

June, 1897, defeated for high school trustee by Geo. Cutter, farmer.

April 19, 1902, badly defeated for city trustee by Augustino Panelli of Italy. Mr. Duhring has four years' record as city trustee against him and the people voted decisively for a change.

Mr. Duhring easily deserved all the defeats he received.

There were plenty of and good reasons for his defeat, without going into extended explanation the above is a reason why Mr. Duhring as a person should not be elected.

The political reason is this: The coming State Senator will vote on two U. S. Senators, and we can not afford to lose them. The Union Labor party will certainly elect a member to the Legislature, what would happen should they hold the balance of power in the election of a U. S. Senator?

Mr. Duhring is a smooth article and will give any kind of gift to suit the occasion. Don't allow any Republic will be made to do this. Kindly show this to Republicans.

Yours, GEO. BREITENBACH.

Enclosed in this letter was the following slip in Breitenbach's well known hand-writing:

"Sneaking could not beat a greenhorn Italian. Elect such a man Senator?"

The reading of this vulgar and offensive epistle, which not only reflected upon Mr. Duhring but also upon every one of our Italian-American citizens, shocked the audience and Breitenbach merited the well-earned contempt of every fair-minded man and woman present.

Rally Republicans

Hon. Frank L. Coombs Will Speak To-Night.

Hon. Frank L. Coombs will address the people of Sonoma to-night at Union Hall.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Don't forget Ed. Colgan on election day and give him your vote.

Jack Smith, conductor on the California Northwestern railway, was in town Tuesday.

Vote for Frank P. Grace for Sheriff. As an officer he has been tried and found not wanting.

Examine your ballot for the name Emmet Seawell. Stamp a cross in the space to the right of his name. Each voter is entitled to vote for two persons for Superior Judge.

Emmet Seawell has had a wide and varied experience in the practice of the law. He has tried many of the most important criminal and civil cases tried in this county during the past twelve years. As District Attorney of this county his record was splendid. He is certainly a lawyer with wide experience. The voters of the county will surely support him for Superior Judge.

Boss Reed, the President of the defunct so-called Republican club of this place, which was repudiated at the polls, denies with considerable asperity that he is to be Jack Smith's Under Sheriff in case of his election, which of course is not within the possibilities. Notwithstanding Reed's denial we all know that he is not doing politics for Smith for the benefit of his health.

A vote for Miss Minnie Coulter for School Superintendent will not be misdirected. She has held the office one term and has most assuredly proven that she is entitled to another term. Miss Coulter, during the past four years has done much to further the cause of education in Sonoma county and has earned every cent of her salary. Every father of a family should vote for her, to the end that the public schools of this county be in safe hands.

Judges Dougherty and Burnett, the Republican nominees for Superior Judges, have been tried in the past and found not wanting. Both are men of dignity and possessed of a thorough knowledge of the law. It is true that the State Supreme Court has reversed Judge Dougherty a number of times, as it has all the Superior Judges in the State, but that does not detract from his merits as a Judge in the least when it is known that the Justices of the Supreme Court have time and again late reversed their selves. Take the Cornelia Botkin and Hoff cases for instance. If this reversal business is the only thing that Judge Dougherty's opponents can spring on him, they ought to let up on him and join the Republicans in helping to elect an honest, able, conscientious and competent Judge, such as Samuel K. Dougherty has proven himself to be.

Steamer Runs Into Black Point Drawbridge.

On Friday afternoon of last week the steamer Napa City, en route to Petaluma, ran afoul of the drawbridge across Petaluma Creek at Black Point, and both the bridge and steamer were badly injured in the mix up that followed. After the steamer had succeeded in passing through the draw it was found necessary to "prop up" the bridge with the trunks of trees to permit the evening train of the California Northwestern railway to pass over. Later on the steamer Napa City, which was in the water, was unable to swing the drawbridge open to allow the steamer to pass through, but the captain of the boat attached a hawser to the bridge and succeeded in pulling it open. A crew of railway carpenters repaired the damaged structure the following day.

Personal Mention.

Joe B. Small was in Santa Rosa attending the Lane meeting last Monday.

H. Pellissier of Lawrence, Villa drove his guests to Petaluma one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cheney and daughter of Petaluma and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cheney of Bakersfield will be the guests of Postmaster and Mrs. J. M. Cheney Sunday.

Glen Ellen News Items

Miss Gertie Lane has been ill the past week with sore throat.

Mrs. Chas. J. Dappe visited her friends in Sonoma last Saturday.

The bridge builders of the Southern Pacific are repairing bridges between Kenwood and this burg.

The Congregationalists will give a literary entertainment with refreshments in Mayflower Hall to-morrow (Friday) night.

Since the storm of last week everything looks fresh, bright and clean. Green grass is already appearing.

Mrs. Gaston Ashe and children, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Ashe on their ranch at Warfield the past six weeks, left for home last Monday afternoon.

Miss Alpha Gaige is dangerously sick with fever at her home in this place. Dr. Crepin is attending her. She was to have been married to-day to Frank Browne of Sacramento.

Gus Martens, who has just returned from Nome, is here spending a few days with his mother. His numerous friends were delighted to see him back again on his old stamping ground.

Reggie Jones, who has but lately recovered from the effects of an accident which crippled one of his fingers, stepped on a nail last night and injured his foot so severely that he is laid up again and unable to be around. Reg is a good fellow and every one feels sorry for his ill luck.

"FAINTED AND FELL UPON A HOT STOVE."

Under that headline the morning papers recently told the story of an unfortunate woman who was badly burned. She was subject to fainting fits, and had often fallen to the floor unconscious. But this time she happened to be at work in the kitchen, and was in the very act of placing a dish upon the cookstove when she fainted and fell forward, badly burning herself before help arrived.

The person who is subject to fainting fits is not only in a miserable but a dangerous condition. There is always the possibility of being overtaken by the malady under circumstances which may result in a catastrophe similar to that of the woman who fell upon the stove. There are a great many women who are subject to fainting "spells," and there is not one of them who would not be grateful for a means of cure.

MEN DON'T FAINT.

As a rule men do not faint. Starting with that proposition it suggests at once that the frequency of fainting among women must be to a great degree a matter of sex. If we follow this clue a step farther we shall find that in general women who faint are afflicted with some womanly disease and when these diseases are cured there are no more fainting "spells."

"I feel it my duty to write to you and let you know how much your medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. Wm. Hackett, of Breeseport, Chemung Co., N. Y. "It is one of the best that I ever used in my life. Before I began to use your medicine it seemed as though I would never be well again. Could not walk to my neighbors, could not stand on my feet five minutes without fainting. Would have a vomiting spell that would last three hours at a time. My limbs would tremble so I could not even wait on myself. Then I had a severe time with chronic inflammation of the liver, then uterine trouble, then heart disease. I had five of the best physicians that could be found. They said to me, 'There is no help for her.' One said I could not live the winter out, one told me that if I got temporary relief that was all that could be done. My mother said to me one day when she was there, 'Do you know you cannot get well?' I told her I did. She said, 'What are you going to do about the baby? Do you want me to care for her—or some one else?' It seemed as though she had pierced me with a sword, and I thought of leaving my little girl without a mother, it seemed as though I could not stand it, and when my friends were telegraphed to that I was dying, and seeing them weep by my bed, that seemed as though I could never stand to hear them repeat that they would 'take care of the baby and give her a good home. I think if ever any one has been through with such a terrible thing they can sympathize with me.

F. W. Bean is boring an artesian well on Will L. Ashe's ranch. He is now down about sixty feet and soon expects a good flow of water. The long storm of last week delayed the job somewhat, but at present things are progressing finely.

Veni vidi vici. They came, they saw, they conquered. The Democrats have had their big pow-wow. It was a most enthusiastic meeting—inspiring music, eloquent and convincing speeches and rivers of paint. In fact they painted the town a crim-on hue. Everybody turned out. They wound up the meeting by saluting the denizens of Glen Ellen with a volley from the anvil artillery. I think you must have heard it in Sonoma. At eleven o'clock the dining room doors of the Mervyn were opened to an appreciative crowd. The tables were loaded with all the good things of the season prepared by the skillful hands of the new hostess. The merry dancers filled the ball room and danced until daylight. A usual Prof. Schieck and Miss Thompson furnished the music. The meeting was a roaring success.

"While taking the first two bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' I seemed to be getting worse. The next two made me feel so well that I could do my work and be real jolly. With the next two I felt like a new being. I have packed and moved twenty miles, and papered three large rooms and a bedroom alone, besides doing my work. I have worked in my garden and picked up about four bushels of chestnuts this fall. I do hope that everyone who is suffering will try Dr. Pierce's medicines. Do not be discouraged if the first you take makes you feel worse but keep right on and you will be surprised at the result."

THE WAY TO BE WELL.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. When the womanly heart is established, fainting, headache, dizziness, and all the other maladies which have their cause in womanly weakness and disease, are entirely cured.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is essentially a woman's medicine. It has perfectly and permanently cured the most complicated womanly diseases when all other means and medicines had failed to give more than temporary relief.

"I suffered intense agony at times both in mind and body for about twenty years," writes Mrs. M. A. Farrington, of Milford, Pr. Edward Co., Ont. (box 21). "My suffering was caused by uterine trouble. I had doctored a great deal but they did not tell me my trouble was ovarian trouble, in fact more misery than I could scarcely walk across the floor. Then I went under treatment but it only gave me temporary relief; tried a support for a while, but gave it up because it did not do much good. Had female weakness, retroversion, inflammation, ulceration, displacement, with great nervous debility and terrible headaches until it seemed as though I would go out of my mind. Had weak spells with some ovarian trouble, in fact more misery than I can express. I thank God that he has directed me to take Dr. Pierce's medicine and I firmly believe it the best medicine made for all such troubles. Can recommend it to all who suffer as I did. I took six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' one of Sage's Catarrh Remedy, also used one dollar's worth of special tablets, and took also Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have worked harder since taking his medicine than in ten years before. Have been moving and have done all my own work before and after, which I know was due to his medicine."

WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, and so avoid the offensive examinations, indelicate questions and obnoxious local treatments which the home physician often deems necessary. All letters addressed to Dr. Pierce are treated as strictly private and are held confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Vineburg News Items.

George Cassidy is hauling his grapes to Bato's.

Some of Carl Dresel's best friends are hoping he will take a vacation trip to Europe soon, and be gone long enough to have a real good resting time. Dr. Dresel reports himself as in fine feather since his own European trip.

Vineburg voters are studying their sample official ballots. We predict about a unanimous vote for Vineburg night, Frederick T. Duhring, for State Senator. The new ballots are easier, but more partisan, than those heretofore used.

There has been a general reaction in the grape market, and Vineburg shippers have shared with the fluctuations; rates have gone from an original $31 per ton down as low as $1 per cent, for everything under 20 per cent, as $17 for 17 per cent. The price started too high on the impression that there was a small crop. Of course, first the south wind and then the gain injured the quality and delayed the harvesting.

Mrs. John W. Roberts, Hazel and Howard went to the city Friday of last week in the midst of the storm. Saturday, while still threatening here, was clear there, and some neighbors were humorously embarrassed with overcoats, mackintoshes and umbrellas in the bright sunshine. It is "better to be sure than sorry," however; better to be caught at an unlooked at, than get caught unprotected in such a "sonnet" as gave us five inches last week.

Mrs. George A. Bondwell of Alameda, with her daughter Hattie, reached Vineburg yesterday morning. Mr. Bondwell, who died two years ago, was one of the architects who built San Francisco's Palace Hotel. Fred Bondwell is in the employ of the Southern Pacific as bridge builder, two other sons are, respectively, in the American Bank and the First National of San Francisco. Percy is studying law—international law as a specialty in New York, while Paul is still at school.

Thomas Holland, of Philadelphia, arrived at Vineburg on Saturday night, and after spending Sunday here, returned to the Palace Hotel for this week's business. He came to Vineburg last night and has challenged Rev. Charles C. Krieland to a "bout" with quoits, ping pong, ball and ball and other games. Mr. Holland has managed many base ball teams and athletic clubs and has always stood for sports under Christian control; in the many years that he has been "on the road" he has always refused to travel on Sundays.

MORE GOOD WORK

Sheriff Grace Makes a Very Clever Capture of a Burglar.

The Man Who Robbed the Windsor Depot on Sunday Night Arrested Next Morning.

Sheriff Frank P. Grace added another clever capture to his long list on Monday when he ran to earth the burglar who broke into the Windsor depot Sunday night. It was a good piece of detective work, and in consequence the sheriff was heartily congratulated by his friends when the news of the capture spread. Incidentally it was but an instance of the splendid record Sheriff Grace has made during his occupancy of the office to which he aspires again.

The notification of the robbery was phoned to Sheriff Grace by General Manager H. C. Whiting of the C. N. W. R. on Monday morning, the general manager having been notified of the affair first by station Agent Kennedy. The sheriff at once proceeded to investigate the case. About 11:30 o'clock Monday morning Sheriff Grace not only had arrested the burglar, but had a confession from him that he was the man.

While on his investigation the sheriff drifted into an uptown liquor refreshment house and found a number of men there. His trained eyes rested upon a young man whose bespattered clothes indicated that he had been through the mud some where.

He winced under the officer's straight gaze and moved uneasily to the further end of the room. When he stepped out Sheriff Grace did likewise and tapped him on the shoulder. Grace questioned him closely as to having been in Windsor, and under the cross-examination the fellow broke down and admitted everything in connection with the robbery. He gave his name as Albert Grahaime, and says he hails from Chicago.

Grahaime used a cooper's adz to effect an entrance to the depot. He tried to break open the safe but failed. He extracted several dollars from the till. The express office is located in the same building. He went through all the express packages as well as the till and then decamped. The affair caused considerable excitement at Windsor, and when the news of the capture reached there much satisfaction was expressed.

Estate of the Late G. W. Clark.

Mrs. Nancy E. Clark has petitioned the Superior Court for letters of administration on the estate of the late G. W. Clark. The deceased, who was a pioneer resident of Sonoma, left an estate valued at $3,400, consisting among other things of $1,925 cash in bank and a promissory note for $1,000. Lawyer Poppo is the attorney for the petitioner.

Fouts Pleads Not Guilty.

Louis Fouts, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was arraigned before Judge Burnett last Monday and entered a plea of not guilty. The prisoner, when put on trial, will be defended by attorney Elmer Hardesty of Santa Rosa.

Horse Notes.

Have your harness repaired by Albert Lambert, the harness maker. Your horse should have a blanket these cold nights. Try one at Lambert's harness shop.

Joe Ryan has sold his pacer Tom to a Mr. Jacobs of San Francisco and the animal was shipped to that city Monday via Lakeville. It is said the animal brought $200.

There is an epidemic of sore eyes among the horses in this valley. Mike Purley, the blacksmith, shod seven animals the other day and six of them were afflicted.

John Lawler of Schellville has placed his two pacers in charge of a trainer at the local track in Petaluma. He will enter them in the races on Thanksgiving Day.

Dr. Thomson was shooting ducks in the marshes near Ringstrom's bay one day this week.

Oscar MacQuiddy and Editor Granice were the guests of T. R. Burkett one day this week.

A force of well-borers are engaged in boring for oil on Rudolph Spreckels' tule land one mile east of this place.

Manager T. R. Burkett of the beet farm has a large force of men at work digging, trimming and sacking the sugar beet crop on the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Abramo Marcucci of Embarcadero are contemplating a pleasure trip to their old home in Italy this winter or early in the spring.

Peter Hein, the drawbridge tender, is now comfortably housed in his new quarters alongside the railway track of the California Northwestern.

Capt. Hauts of the fast-sailing gasoline schooner "Four Sisters" continues to handle large quantities of freight between this place and San Francisco.

John Wagoner and Howard Knight passed through here at an early hour Sunday morning en route to the shores of San Pablo Bay for a day's shooting.

Samuel Jones, brother of U. S. Senator Jones, visited the Pacific Reclamation Company's ranch at McGill's Sunday. He is one of the principal stockholders in the company.

A large number of hunters from the metropolis dropped off the train at Fairville and the drawbridge Sunday morning. Having no preserves to shoot over they swarmed over the neighboring ranches and reminded one of an invading army. They were bounced off several of the farms and many of them returned to the city with out a bird.

Equal Rights Association.

An Equal Rights Association was organized at the home of Mrs. S. T. Enos on Tuesday with a charter membership of twenty-three. The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Mrs. McHarvey, President; Mrs. R. P. Hill, Vice President; Miss Minnie Cooke, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Gordenker, Corresponding Secretary; Miss Martha Wooster, Treasurer.

After the organization had been perfected Mrs. Gordenker moved that the association send a resolution of sympathy to the relatives of the late Elizabeth Cady Stanton. The motion was carried and the President appointed a committee of three to draw up said resolution. The meeting then adjourned.

The association will meet the first Tuesday of every month. It numbers among its members many of Sonoma's brightest women.

Following are the charter members: Mrs. Gordenker, Mrs. S. T. Enos, Mrs. R. P. Hill, Mrs. R. A. Donohue, Mrs. H. E. Calderwood, Miss Martha Wooster, Mrs. F. T. Dabring, Mrs. M. Stearns, Mrs. B. F. Campbell, Miss Minnie Cooke, Miss Rensch, Mrs. A. McHarvey, Mrs. Dorman, Mrs. J. M. Cheney, Mrs. Henry Weber, Mrs. D. Dabring, Mrs. McKenna, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. O. B. Slaw, Mrs. R. A. Poppo, Mrs. H. H. ### Painful Accident.

The little two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Yenni of this place met with a painful accident one day last week. Mrs. Yenni was running a sewing machine when the little fellow, who stood near by looking on, suddenly thrust his right fore finger directly under the needle which passed clear the digit, impaling him to the machine. The needle was with drawn from the little fellow's finger, home remedies applied and no serious consequences followed. This little boy will be remembered as having been awarded by a patent medicine company in a voting contest a handsome silver set as the most popular baby in Sonoma.

To the Public

Allow me to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I had a very severe cough and cold and feared I would get pneumonia, but after taking the second dose of this medicine I felt better. Three bottles of it cured my cold and the pains in my chest disappeared entirely. I am most respectfully yours for health, Ralph S. Meyer, 61 Thirty seventh street, Wheeling, W. Va. For sale by F. Mrs. Adam Yenne and son are visiting relatives in San Francisco.

F. G. Riser spent Sunday evening in Santa Rosa visiting friends.

Mr. John Lounibus, Jr. was married in San Francisco last Wednesday.

M. F. Mullen is putting a fence around his property on Riverside avenue.

J. P. Key and wife has left for San Jose, where they will reside in future.

Mike Mullen, Jr., still sports his Lane hat. Mike says he is a sure winner.

A crowd of our citizens took in the political meeting in Santa Rosa Monday evening.

Miss May Rudden and Miss Emma Meyer of San Francisco visited friends here Sunday.

Rumor has it that one of our popular young townsmen is about to become a Benedict.

Mrs. John Robinson and son of San Francisco are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Barnes.

Harry Baines is about to make his departure for San Francisco as porter in the Poodle Dog.

Miss B. Hanford of Jackson, Mich., is spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Lord.

F. P. Grace is main guy out this way now. Be sure and put your X to the right of his name.

Wm. Chance has gone to San Francisco to work with his brother at the Union Iron Works.

E. P. Lounibus will leave for the northern part of the state as soon as he disposes of his property here.

Tom Mullen has secured a position as storekeeper on the battleship Ohio. Tom will make a tour of the earth on board here.

Lawrence Larsen, formerly of this place, but now employed as a barber in the metropolis, spent Sunday visiting friends here.

Tommy Ryan and Billy Woods, well known in pugilistic and baseball circles in New York, are spending a few days visiting friends here.

Mr. P. Olson and wife have taken up their residence in this place on the Almyer place. We are glad to have Mr. Olson and family back here.

J. Dutil is contemplating building a 65 room hotel. A well known contractor of this burg is going to start in to erect the structure immediately.

El Verano is to have another saloon on Riverside avenue, opposite the Villa. It is to be run by a Mr. S. A. Smith of San Francisco. It will be known as the Wayside Inn.

Mrs. A. Nevrumont of this place is about to build another cottage for the use of her summer borders, which she will undoubtedly have completed before the coming summer.

L. Mouyer, who met with a very painful accident two weeks ago, by having a bucketful of gravel fall upon him while working in his well, is able to be up and around again.

Felice Clerici went to Sacramento last Wednesday to make preparations for the construction of a large bath house. Felice says that his well can throw the water fifteen feet above the ground.

P. Castera, driver of the Villa bus is about to take his departure for San Francisco, where he has secured a position with the San Francisco fire department as driver of truck No. 3.

Another of our local sports has taken his departure from our little burg. Kenneth Weaver has gone to Trinity county to act as foreman in his father's mines in that locality. We wish the young man luck and hope he will strike it rich there.

A very painful, but not serious accident happened to one of the well-known business men of this place. While Frank Periggio was mixing a fancy drink for a thirsty summer visitor his moustache became ignited in some unaccountable way and was scorched beyond recognition. He immediately drove to Sonoma where, with the aid of a barber, he had the remainder of the moustache shaved off, and now looks like one of our county candidates.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Merriman have returned to their home in Schellville after two weeks spent in San Francisco.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Davis have decided to occupy their own home on Broadway instead of taking apartments in the Schocken building. Dr. Blake, who had rented the Davis residence, will not be able to move from San Francisco to Sonoma before the first of the new year.

Mrs. John Gottenberg and children will accompany her husband to Southern California about the middle of this month, where Mr. Gottenberg has accepted the management of the beautiful country home of Miss Cole, a wealthy Eastern woman. The place is located but four miles from Santa Barbara.

Wm. H. Kerner returned from his old home in Michigan last Thursday morning, bringing with him a young bride. Mr. Kerner has been absent from Sonoma for two months. On Wednesday of last week he was married to Miss Laura Schott of Mount Clemens, Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Kerner, who are temporarily stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kerner, will go to housekeeping next week.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are: uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea, and find Hood's Sarsaparilla "irresistible." E. B. LUCAS, W. C. Caster, Pa.

RHEUMATISM.

The Despair and Reproach of the Medical Profession.

It was by rheumatic twinges in his joints that Adam was able to forecast foul weather, and it was rheumatism which tortured Noah during the damp days of the deluge. Old as this malady is known to be, it still remains the same stupendous and baffling mystery and the same despair and reproach of the medical profession. Now, as before the Christian era, its treatment is empirical and its prognosis blind guesswork. Of all the manifold afflictions which restrain the natural gaiety of mankind this elusive disease is the least about which the doctors have any right to dogmatize. Their proper attitude toward rheumatism is one of humility and awe. However, with arrogance which approaches shameless effrontery, they have recently affirmed that it is contagious; that a person of the most blameless life may acquire its seeds by consorting with a rheumatic friend or neighbor under favoring circumstances. It may be so; but, considering their appalling ignorance of its causes and its nature and what tissues it involves, they can show no warrant for any such alarming announcement.

Surely it is enough that the rheumatic sufferer is without the hope of human aid, is the victim of the physician's impotence and is already shunned by the sensitive as a center of moral pestilence without his being proscribed as a source of physical infection. Pugnacity, irritability and sometimes even profanity are characteristic of acute rheumatism. The moral descent of a good man in the throes of this ailment is as pathetic as it is deplorable, so piteous, indeed, that considerate friends who are expert at dodging often leave harmless missiles within his reach that may vary the monotony of pain with the pleasure of personal assault. To proclaim that rheumatism is contagious is to drive from the presence of the victim all sympathetic friends and condemn him to the exclusive care of the hardened professional nurse.—New York Times.

Recipe for Happiness.

One of the youngest looking women we have ever known was one whose principle in life was never to expect too much of people, and in this lies the great secret of happiness. A large amount of worry and trouble comes from our too great expectations of people. We expect too much of our children, for example. They must be gifted, beautiful, obedient little compendiums of all the virtues, and if they are not all this we think bitter things and sow wrinkles and gray hair and ill health for ourselves, says Woman's Life. What right have we to expect so much of our own children? Blessed is the parent who looks tolerantly and philosophically on the faults of his children and who realizes that he has no right to expect too much of children as long as the law of heredity holds good. Unless we ourselves are gifted, beautiful and obedient to the will of somebody else we have no right to expect such perfections of our children.

Treatment for Burns.

For a dry burn there is nothing better than equal parts of linseed oil and lime water. This makes the carbon oil, which the Welsh miners use in case of burns. It should have a place in every closet where household remedies are kept. In applying it shake the bottle, saturate a soft cloth with the mixture and lay over the burn. Then cover closely with cotton batting or flannel to keep out every bit of air and secure the whole with a light bandage. Burns may also be treated by covering with a thick layer of any bland oil like vaselin, sweet oil, linseed oil, castor oil, butter, lard, coconut oil, cocoa butter, cold cream or almost any fat that is not rancid. Glycerin should not be used. It is too irritating. Soft powders like flour, laundry or cornstarch may also be dusted on thickly, then bound on.

They All Looked.

Dear little Molly was wearing new boots, and no one had admired them, at which she was terribly disappointed. At last a brilliant idea struck her, and when there was a pause in the conversation she exclaimed:

"How many feet are there among us all?"

This had the desired effect, much to her delight.—Home Chat.

Beards in Alaska.

Mustaches are not worn by men exposed to the severity of an Alaskan winter. They wear full beards to protect the throat and face, but keep the upper lip clean shaven. The moisture from the breath congeals so quickly that a mustache becomes imbedded in a solid cake of ice, and the face is frozen in a short time.

CONSUMPTION.

the most dreaded and deadly of all diseases, as well as pneumonia, and all lung troubles are relieved at once and cured by Aker's English Remedy, "the king of Cough Cures." Cures Coughs and Colds in a day. 25 cents. Write for free sample. W. H. HOOKER & Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by R. G. Shoults, druggist.

Jumped on a Ten-Penny Nail.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well-known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without incision and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by F. Duhring.

ORIGIN OF THE ROSARY.

An Interesting Legend Associates It With a Garland of Roses.

Tracing the origin of the rosary back to times and places far remote, Father Thurston, who read a paper before the Society of Arts, pointed out that it would be a great mistake to suppose that the use of beads for counting prayers was peculiar to the Catholic church or was of comparatively modern date. To determine at what time the name rosary (rosenkranz) was introduced is extremely difficult. Garlands of roses, implying a reference to the term rosary, were a conspicuous feature of pictures and tablets of the fifteenth century, but before this no clear examples are forthcoming. At that epoch it was common for both men and women in ordinary life to wear garlands of flowers and to place them as a mark of respect upon the heads of persons and statues. Father Thurston is strongly inclined to believe that its application to the particular devotion now under discussion was mainly due to the popularity of a certain story of a garland which can be traced very much earlier than the word itself in almost every part of the Christian world. The name must have come from the story, and the story was not evolved out of an already pre-existing name.

The legend in question is briefly this: A youth was accustomed to make a wreath of roses or other flowers every day and to place it upon the head of Our Lady's statue. He became a monk, and in the cloister his occupations no longer permitted him to observe this pious practice. Being much distressed, he asked counsel of an aged priest, who advised him to say his Ave every evening, which would be accepted by Our Lady in lieu of the garland. This the young man faithfully observed until one day while on a journey he had to pass through a lonely wood, where robbers were lying in wait. Quite unsuspecting of their presence, he suddenly remembered that his Ave's were not yet said and forthwith stopped to say them. Then, to their surprise, the robbers saw a most glorious lady stand before him and take one after another from the lips of the kneeling monk fifty beautiful roses, which she wore into a garland and placed upon her head. The robbers, conscience stricken at the vision, were all converted to a better life, and themselves soon after entered the monastery.—London Telegraph.

Dodging a Promise.

The youthful attorney secured a verdict in favor of the Irishman charged with murder on the ground of temporary insanity. He did not meet his client again for several months, when the following remarks were exchanged between them:

"Well, Pat, isn't it about time you gave me that extra $200?"

"Faith, an' what two hundred is that?"

"The $200 you promised if I saved that worthless neck of yours."

"Sure, an' did Oi promise that? Oi don't ramimber."

"Why, Pat, you promised it me."

Pat scratched his head for a minute and then with a smile outlaid the claim with the remark:

"Oh, well, but ye know Oi was crazy thin."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

One Way to Make Change.

A struggling, modest lawyer near Stroudsburg, says the Philadelphia Times, received a call from a well to do farmer who was in need of professional advice concerning his rights, which he thought ignored by a section gang on a railroad. The lawyer looked up the statutes, told the farmer exactly what he should do and when asked as to the fee replied, "Well, let's call it just $3." The farmer passed over a five dollar bill, which seemed to embarrass the lawyer, who searched through his pockets and the drawers of his desk. Then he pocketed the $5, reached for a digest, sat down and remarked, "I guess, neighbor, I'd best give you $2 worth more advice."

A Considerate Host.

Lord Rosebery one time sat next to a farmer at his estate dinner, and the confiding man whispered to the host when the ice pudding was brought, "The pudding has been frozen." The ex-premier, thanking the farmer and looking surprised, called to a waiter, said something and then, turning to the farmer again, said, "They tell me the pudding has been frozen on purpose!"

Ostrich Plumes.

Black and white ostrich plumes come from the male bird, the gray from the female. The feathers are not plucked out, as one might imagine, but are clipped off with a sharp knife, leaving the end of the quill in the flesh, where it remains for two or three months, until it "dies," when it is pulled out with forceps.

If you desire a good Complexion use Moki Tea, a pure herb drink. It acts on the liver and makes the skin smooth and clear. Cures sick headaches. 25 and 50 cents. Money refunded if it does not satisfy you. Write to W. H. HOOKER & Co., Buffalo, N. Y., for sample. R. G. Shoults, druggist.
